Shaber to Edit Roundup Next Term

The newly chosen editor of the Roundup is George Shaber, graduate of Boise High School and an ex-leather neck. He enrolled at B. J. C. last January and is majoring in Journalism. During last year he became copy editor of the Roundup and was assistant editor of the Les Bois. During the first term of this year he was the president of the Press Club. His tentative plans for future education are directed toward either Ohio State or the University of Oregon.

Other staff positions are: Copy editor, Stan Burns; news editor, Alice Uda; sports editor, Bob Hunt; and feature editor, Joan Brown. Dave Duree was chosen as editorial writer.

Shaber hopes to continue the good work of his predecessor, Harry Burke, who declined renomination, to keep up the good record of the paper.

Perry Silver Heads Letterman's Club

Perry Silver, star end on the football team was elected president of the newly organized letterman's club in a meeting held by the football players last Wednesday afternoon. Other officers assisting Silver will be Bob Curtis as vice president and Max Reinecker who will act as secretary-treasurer. Coach Harry Jacoby will be the faculty adviser.

During the meeting a committee was appointed to draw up by-laws composed of Bert Chisholm, Blair Shepard, Bob Cammack and Frank Willy. Activities of this organization will include an all school dance to be held later on in the year. Football players earning letters will be announced at the meeting next week.

Valkyries Award Two Scholarships

Two girls were awarded scholarships from the Valkyries for the winter term. Mary Butalla and Virginia Beckett were chosen because of their scholastic ability and their participation in out-of-school work. The choice was made by the committee of Mary Helen Rounds, Mrs. Mary Bedford and Mrs. Mary Hershey.

The Valkyries present this award every term to the girls they feel are most deserving for this honor.

J. C. Students See Scarlet Masque Play

Delta Psi and Alpha Mu Omega clubs traveled to the College of Idaho last Thursday night to see the play put on by the Scarlet Masque, dramatic society at that college. The play witnessed was "Death Takes a Holiday" and was presented as the school's first term play.

Those who attended were Mr. Wennstrom, Adele Gifford, Lee Higgins, Pauline Brewster, Lew Karcher, and other members of the two clubs. The students termed the play as a great success.

CHRISTMAS REUNION SET FOR DECEMBER 28

The last college dance of the year will ring down with an informal Christmas reunion on Dec. 28, at the auditorium. Sponsored by the Social Committee of the Student Body and pushed by the managing of Stanley Burns, this event promises several unique features.

Admission is absolutely gratis for all students and their dates. A hearty invitation is also extended to all alumni of BJC.

Choir Presents Xmas Assembly

Members of the B. J. C. A Capella Choir, made their first school appearance Friday morning, when they presented a portion of a Christmas musical program for the student body. Under the direction of Mr. Griffith Bratt, the choir sang the following numbers: "Break Forth O Beauteous Heavenly Light," "Sing Noel," a carol based on the old English and French type music; two lullabies, and "Deck the Halls."

Carmen Monsanto, with the Girls' Ensemble, sang the first verse of "Silent Night," in her native Spanish tongue; the other two verses were sung by the ensemble.

Dorothy Haworth of Boise High School gave a reading and the program was terminated with Mr. Weber singing Schubert's "Ave Maria," and "White Christmas," and the audience joining in a community sing. Ross Chastain made a surprise appearance as Santa Claus, and threw candy to the students, during the singing.

Library Purchases New Books

The library has many new books on the shelves now. They consist of books used as council and guidance in choosing vocation.

They are here prior to the winter term and will assist the students in choosing the subjects to take next term.

These books were ordered under the management of Mr. Giles, and among them are various phases of government, business, law, commercials, music, history and literature.

More books for reading pleasure will be purchased in the near future.

Stags Stage II

The I. K.'s are at it again after finishing an eventful first term at school with their Golden Plume ball, they have settled down to being the stag line. On December 16, they will furnish a volunteer cheering section for the basketball game which will be with the Northwestern Nazarene college at Nampa, after the game they will excuse themselves for a good ole stag party. . . . Johnny Bushfield, chairman of the affair stated "the exact place for the party has not been picked yet, but they expect a big turn out."

Since this is to be a vacation reunion, all college students from other schools who are home on vacation are also invited to attend. These students and the alumni may call for their tickets to the dance at the reception desk of KIDO in the Hotel Boise. College students who are not alumni of BJC, must present their activity tickets from their own schools.

Music for this mid-holiday get together will come by courtesy of Dick Metcalf and his gang.

Co-chairmen of decorations are Wally Walker and Gwen Austin. Members of the decoration committee include Ross Chastain, Phil Obenchain, Mary McLeod, Glen Siebel, Jerry Lawhead, Violet Ebert, Dick Nelson, Charlotte Graham, Dorothy Rankin, Arnie Migliaccio, Betty Hill and Fred Griffin.

Jim Barnes will head the floor and door department. Merle Collins is ticket chairman. On the invitation committee are: Sally McMullen, chairman, Vi Ebert, and Mary McLeod. The Chilton-Layne agency will spark the publicity.

So, with that information, all you studes may consider this as a personal invitation to come out and line up with all the gang.

Hockeyists Return to BJC

The Boise Junior College girls' hockey team went to Portland, Oregon, to participate in the annual Northwest college hockey convention. This is the first time in the history of the school that the women athletics have taken part in such a tournament.

Fourteen women, including their athletic instructor, Miss Margaret Schmithals, and the College of Idaho women left for Portland on December 6, and returned to Boise on Monday. The team participated in three games.

Spanish Club Meets

Members of the Spanish club, last Wednesday, listened to Spanish and Latin American music, at their regular monthly meeting in the Student Union.

Carmen Monsanto taught the Conga to those members in attendance. Refreshments were provided by James Barnes, president.

Future meetings will be held on the first Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p. m. in the Union.

Out of Town Girls Feted

An afternoon tea was given Wednesday for some out of town girls attending Boise Junior College by the Associated Women's Council. In charge of the tea was Miss Vi Ebert, social chairman of the A. W.

Invitations were also sent to Mrs. Mary Hershey, registrar, and Mrs. Mary Bedford, head librarian.

Pat Rivett was in charge of invitations.

Club Hears Hoobing

A small group of A1 clubbers met last Tuesday to hear Carl Hoobing of Cline Advertising Agency speak about art. He brought with him a number of pieces of work to show the final outcome of the original art work in its printed form. He also brought samples of paper and art used in the process with an explanation of when they were used to the best advantage. The next meeting will be held in the Owyhee hotel, Tuesday, Dec. 17. At this meeting election of new officers will take place.

Future Teachers Choose Officers

At the first meeting of the Future Teachers' association, Herbert Chaffee was elected president. Irving Higgins was chosen as vice president, and Patricia Pierce was named secretary-treasurer. The newly elected president appointed a committee of Iaoma Davis, Alice Goin, and Claire Walker to set the time of the next meeting which will probably be held after the first of the year. A party was held after the business meeting and Mr. Chatburn was one of the featured entertainers. Truth and Consequences was also played. All future teachers are urged to join this recently formed organization.

A Very Merry Christmas

One walking down the street these days, sees many reminders of the holiday season. Streets, houses, and store windows are decorated to the utmost with evergreen foliage, tinsel, and colored lights. Carols are being sung; cards are being sent; and candies are bought for the holiday festivities. Everywhere we see reflected the spirit that commemorates the birth of the Christ child.

It is true that different peoples during the history of civilization have developed customs and rites which have been added to our present observance; but always we remember the babe that was born in the manger at Bethlehem.

Today amid a scene of world turmoil, famines, wars, strikes and disturbances; we let our minds drift back to the scene in Judaea when heaven's angelic choir came down to sing and when heaven's Messiah came down to save. He was the earthly child of a heavenly father and the heavenly child of an earthly mother. If man had arranged His birthplace he might have chosen a palace—God chose a barn. Man might have prepared a royal crib—God prepared a feed trough. Man might have provided silken robes—God chose the swaddling clothes of a poor peasant. Man might have selected choice perfumes and spices—God came in the odors of a stable.

Yet today we return in spirit to that scene in the manger and sing with the peoples of all nations—"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

And a Prosperous New Year

Good luck.

The Instructor and the Student

The mature professor and the young freshman have one thing in common—a remarkable similarity in their laughter; and while it is not overtly discernible they probably share the same understanding of life.

One may have known the fabulous characters of history through the medium of education; the other through the intimate contacts of living. Perhaps while the one has suffered intellectual rebuffs, the other has felt the bitter defeats of social life.

But the similarity ends in the fundamental concepts of understanding. The novice knows the general scheme of things—the scholar knows the detailed, concrete pattern.

No man is wise who has not learned from other men, and theoretically, at least, that is why we go to college. The instructors here do not expect us to be subservient to them, nor even grateful. Basically they do not know any more than you know—they seek happiness in much the same manner as you or I. But they have the instruments and the tools to obtain that happiness and are willing to give them to us. Are we ready to receive them?

Vets' Mail Bag

By Welton Graham

The other day the veterans' administration sent to the paper a picture to be published of a wounded veteran still in the hospital. The picture was taken at the VA hospital, Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, Mo., showing a patient reading with the aid of a new projector-type device. Seeing this reminded your reporter that there are many wounded veterans right here in the Boise hospital.

BJC has contributed entertainment and other help, but has it been enough? No, it hasn't. We have many clubs here at school who are in a position to help the fellows all the time, not part of the time. All it takes is a little effort and cooperation among the students.

Many of us who are veterans have the feeling that we have done our share and want to forget all about it. Think about those fellows who are in hospitals and will be there for some time. They did their share and more. The little extra effort we would put out to help those fellows pass the hours away, still won't make our share equal to theirs.

Tip to I. K.'s

Many of you fellows who are I.K.'s are also veterans. Your motto is service, sacrifice and loyalty. As you know many students have been questioning your activities. Some seem to think that service with profit would be more fitting. All of you guys are loyal to your club and will uphold it before anyone. Here's a way you men can prove your motto for sacrifice.

Over at the vet's units are a number of fellow students who have children. Santa Claus is expected to visit those children in a short time, so why don't you fellows doll your most jolly member out in a red suit and give those kids a surprise one of these nights. If this were done, no one

And It Was a Very Wonderful Christmas

It is the climax of "A Toast to Christmas" when the servants are presented with gifts. Pauline Brewster and Lew Karcher are giving Judy Graham and Bob Pie their own Christmas presents.

STUDENT Of the Week

Our nominee for outstanding student this week is Jim Barnes. Jim, very active in all student affairs, is best known to everyone for his duties as stage manager for all school dramatic productions.

Jim left Boise high school in 1940 with the illustrious Idaho National Guard to return in the fall of '45 to continue his education at BJC.

It is well known among his friends that Jim has advanced his education to a point where he now aspires for a Rhodes scholarship. An English major now, he hopes could dispute your motto.

Earn Money

Here is something you Vet's will be glad to hear. Over the coming holidays you can get a job, earn that extra spending money without the VA cutting your monthly check. However, a statement will probably be wanted by the VA to see just how much you do earn. (Next term). They will then prorate that amount over a three-month period, entitling you to your full monthly check.

Focusing the News

On BJC's promising basketball team, now in the making. With 54 cagers out, and an all conference man for coach, all we need now is student support for a bang-up season for Alma Mater's undying glory.

On English II. If that "man with a flash," would run a direct wire into Mr. Wennstrom's debating classes these days, very likely he would glean enough alternatives to furnish directions for dusting off John L. and wetting down the coal strike.

by spring to be able to enter the University of Chicago if this format plan doesn't materialize.

Jim finds time between carrying a full schedule and supervising the stage to be president of the Spanish club (he may be heard holding forth every noon at the Spanish table), vice president of the Delta Psi Omega, honorary dramatic society.

Hunting, fishing and looking the social field over has been his favorite sports—in that order. Good luck Jim, on your scholarship test.

Brewster, Karcher Star in Play

Alpha Mu Omega, one of BJC's dramatic societies, took wraps off their thespians last day night to the tune of "A Toast to Christmas"; as a take-off on dramatic department's schedule plays.

Co-stars of this one-act production were: Pauline Brewster, Stephanie and Lew (Choo Choo) Karcher as Richard. Bob Pie played the butler, and Judy Graham was the maid. Inimitable Grant Dean acted the part of photographer. Reporters Henry Blodgett and Lee Higgins.

The plot revolved around pseudo-living of actors and repercussions in store when Christmas cheer shows up the self-centered living of the main characters.

To Adele Gifford, student director, and her assistant Mary Farnham and to Jim Barnes who was responsible for the sets, go the eternal calls for a very fine performance.

Formal Fashion Previews

Faille Frock and Clogs

Pat Davidson, far left, wears an adorable faille silk frock. Most unusual is the high neck connected to a fine netting which covers the shoulders. This netting gives the appearance of a strapless gown. Around the top of the bodice and the top of the skirt are full gatherings which express fullness. Please notice, if you can, the shoes Pat is wearing. They are called South American Clogs and are an import from that country. Gold threads embroidered into the three inch platform sole draws one's attention to their novelty. The dress is about $40 and the shoes $19.

Nice As Christmas Gift

Rae Reid looks precious in this dress, don't you think? The skirt is of plaid taffeta, the bodice is black jersey with a plaid bow of the same material on the right shoulder. Any college girl would be thrilled to receive this dress as a Christmas present or wear it to any one of the gala events that will take place this festive holiday season. This dress is about $25.

These lovely gowns, just right for the coming holidays, may be seen at The Mode, Ltd. In addition to these dresses, the Mode is able to show you many more appropriate ensembles for your important dates of this vacation.

Wearables for the Holiday Season

With the coming of these wondrous Christmas holidays, many of our young fresh looking coeds will be entertained at serene formal dinners, bright and gay cocktail parties, and dreamy formal balls. We believe the four gowns pictured above would fit almost any occasion.

Mae Rose, second from right in the above picture, could turn many a head at a dinner party when wearing this gown. The dress has a black taffeta skirt with a white taffeta bodice. Black lustrous sequins are sown on the white and a double strand of Hatti Carnegie pearls finish to perfection her exciting costume. About $35.

Velma Wears Original

You'll think of something calm and serene when looking at Velma Koppes, far right, in this Cecil Chapman original. It is the smart cocktail length with an off the shoulder line. Her gold accessories and matching slippers complete her sophisticated appearance. This unique black velvet creation certainly accentuates Velma's blond beauty.

That winds it up for this week, but I'll be back next issue with more caustic comments about the coeds and their cuddle companions, and whooze whoo in Bogus Basin.

Jaycee Basketball Season Begins December 11

Initial Game Is Against Local Team

Basketball season for Boise Junior College begins December 11 with a practice game against McCall's at the college gym. After another practice game December 13, the Broncos travel to Nampa to take on the Northwest Nazarene College December 16. December 18 will see them pitted against the strong University of Idaho team at the high school gym. Christmas week the junior varsity will play in the Y. M. C. A. tournament.

Coach Lyle Smith has been working with the boys for two weeks and has reduced the squad from 52 to 25. Still noncommittal about the team's prospects, he says they have a good chance of going to either the National A. A. U. tournament at Denver, or to the Junior College Tournament at Compton, Calif. They played in the Denver tournament in 1940.

A few of the hoopsters that have survived the initial squad "cuts" by Smith and who will vie for positions on the first team are: Winter, Alexander, Dorius, Silver, Duncan, Cammack, Chisholm, Kendall, Reinecker, Lambson, Smitchger, Rohn and Oakes.

B. J. C. Hockey Team

Coal Shortage Won't Affect BJC

Boise Junior college students will not be affected by recent coal shortages. Optimistic students have been hoping and looking forward to an extended vacation, some other colleges have been forced to give, have been told. The Boise Junior college heating system is operated by oil and by coal.

University of Colorado students have been out for over a week ready, on their Christmas vacation due to lack of coal. Some schools have even switched to oil and on vacations while necessary pairs were being made. Others have even dispensed with term exams, giving students extra grades for final grades.

If the builders of this fine institution of higher education had had the foresight to equip buildings with oil heat, students might now be enjoying a less vacation with nothing to look forward to but rest, relaxation, merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Earl Naylor, Ray Koll, Glen Bill Brasfield, Jim Cammack.

The two managers, Harland and Emil Siron, also received letters. Don Burgner was chosen honorary captain by unanimous vote for the 1946-47 football season.
